Priyanka will spur Congress cadre

Priyanka Gandhi, known primarily as the 47-year-old daughter of Rajiv and Sonia Gandhi and sister of Congress president Rahul Gandhi, entered politics formally, on Wednesday. She is now a general secretary of Congress, with oversight on the Lok Sabha elections in eastern Uttar Pradesh. The letter announcing her entry into active politics, among the most speculated upon topics in recent times in Indian national politics, was signed by her brother. The hashtag #PriyankaGandhi is by far the top trending topic on Twitter in India — and in many countries where Indians live. But votes, not tweets, win elections. And electoral success or failure is the only test of legitimacy.

Priyanka Gandhi's entry in politics means Congress is no longer content to be a pushover in UP, India's most politically-significant state, with 80 of 543 Lok Sabha seats. Over a quarter-century, the Grand Old Party (GOP) has ceded ground in this state, thanks to its own sins of omission and commission, to caste and religion-based outfits. Priyanka's entry, along with that of Jyotiraditya Scindia, another fresh face representing youthful energy, is a signal that the GOP wants the people of UP to know that Congress has fresh ideas for the state, different from poverty and conflict. Yes, Priyanka's entry does underline the Nehru-Gandhi family's grip on the Congress imagination. However, the media, and the focus on Priyanka, indicates that this tendency goes beyond the Congress. The willingness of Congress to give the battle in UP its all holds a message not only for BJP, but also for Samajwadi Party (SP) and Bahujan Samaj Party (BSP). Even if it was as far back as 2009, the Congress had won 21 seats, against BSP's 20 and SP's 23 in the Lok Sabha. Whatever be the case this time around, Priyanka Gandhi's coming out of the proverbial closet will, if nothing else, spur the Congress cadre onward.

It's a pleasant surprise for once as waste collectors come to doorstep

NOIDA: The first day of door-to-door waste collection saw many residents being caught unaware though almost all of them welcomed the move as it began in five sectors—14, 50, 48, 49, 137 and in Aghapur village. There were some initial hiccups like delayed deployment of tipper vans due to logistical issues in arranging bins, drivers etc. by 9am. In Sector 50, when the tipper van reached there early morning, it was not allowed to enter by residents due to lack of intimation from the RWA. The van, however, returned with staff from Noida Authority. The RWA members then spent some time creating awareness about the new system. A similar response came from Aghapur village where too the residents were caught off guard. While 13 tipper vans were deployed on Thursday, a total of 20 tonnes of waste were collected, of which 15 tonnes were from residential sectors and the rest five from Aghapur village. An additional five tonnes were brought by nearly 40 rickshaws in Sector 49 dhalao ghar where a 25-tonne compactor was placed for compressing municipal waste. "We got to know of the new mechanism of waste collection through media reports. By the time these vans came to our sector on Thursday morning, most of our original sanitation staff had already collected the garbage.

Education dept to monitor parent-teacher meetings to be held in 688 schools today

NOIDA: The district administration and the basic education department will supervise the fourth parent-teacher meeting to be held on a mass scale in Noida and Greater Noida on Monday. The single-day programme will be held in 688 government or government-aided schools in the district. Parents of nearly 84,000 children are expected to meet teachers during the day. The parent-teacher meetings on a mass scale were started on an experimental basis at the beginning of the current academic session. These have now become a part of the school curriculum. The meetings are supposed to help parents gain feedback on the skills and achievements of their children from the teachers. According to sources, Gautam Budh Nagar is the front-runner in holding regular parent-teacher meetings in UP. "So far, we've hosted three such meetings. So, in an academic year, there will be four parent-teacher meetings. We're the first in the state to implement this. Though we wanted to improve the frequency of such meetings, the difficulties involved in organising such gigantic meetings have prevented us," said Bal Mukund Prasad, basic siksha adhikari of Gautam Budh Nagar. "The involvement of parents in children's education is important and when parents visit teachers in the schools, it also becomes a feedback system for schools to correct themselves. Now, Gautam Budh Nagar has become a model for the rest of the state to adopt regular parent-teacher meetings in their annual curriculum.

NBCC gets SC's green signal to complete Amrapali's 2 Noida projects

NEW DELHI: The Supreme Court on Friday permitted state-owned NBCC to start work to complete Amrapali's two unfinished housing projects in Noida and sought a comprehensive report from it on how the rest of the projects could be completed in a time-bound manner. A bench of Justices Arun Mishra and U U Lalit asked NBCC to complete two projects—Castle and Eden Park—which were chosen by the company. The two projects were selected as they were at an advanced stage of construction and only Rs 7 crore was required to complete 618 flats in the projects. Other projects need more investments and the fund raised so far by the SC is not sufficient to meet the cost. As properties of Amrapali Group have been put on auction and some of them are likely to be sold by end of this month, the bench asked NBCC to prepare a blueprint for other unfinished projects also. After the SC entrusted the task to NBCC, the corporation conducted a thorough survey of all housing projects of Amrapali and agreed to take over the incomplete projects.

Gangster held for threatening toll staffers in Noida

NOIDA: The Noida unit of the special task force (STF) has arrested a henchman of the Sunder Bhati-Anil Bhati gang who allegedly threatened toll tax staffers at the DND and also fleeced money in the name of dreaded gangsters. Mohit Bhati, whose father's elder brother was well-known to Sunder Bahti's father, was arrested near Sector 21/25 intersection around 8.30am on Thursday after the STF officers got a tip-off about the movement of three members of the gang near the area. A Class 11 pass, Mohit (20) was allegedly involved in threatening toll tax staffers at the DND to ensure that trucks pass through the toll without paying the tax.

Kalindi Kunj bridge opens, but no relief from jams

NOIDA: As expected, the opening of the new Kalindi Kunj bridge led to snarls before the traffic signal of the junction, with motorists stopping there and commercial vehicles being stopped for payment of toll. The six-lane bridge over the Yamuna and the connecting Shahdara drain bridge were inaugurated by chief minister Yogi Adityanath on Friday, with the pressing of a button at the Depot station of the Noida-Greater Noida metro corridor. With its opening, commuters coming from the Noida side towards Delhi had a smooth run. But only for a while. Soon, the snarls started building up. While officials of the company handling the MCD toll tax were prepared and a booth was installed on the left side at the end of the two new bridges, some drivers attempted to dodge the toll. D Suryavanshi, toll manager for the company, said a separate lane for commercial vehicles was created on the extreme left of the new bridge. However, the situation on the ground reflected otherwise, with commuters stating that commercial vehicles needed to be funnelled at the start of the bridge. "There should be a separate lane for commercial vehicles so they do not merge with private cars that have nothing to do with toll," said Vipin Kumar, a Jasola resident.

Kin free youth from jail, NSA slapped against his brother

GHAZIABAD: The brother of a youth, accused of molesting a woman, has been booked under the National Security Act after he and his family members created a ruckus at Tronica City police station and tried to release him forcibly on the night of December 3 last year. At that time, an FIR had been registered against 12 persons, including the accused Rahul, his brother Suraj and father Ranveer for attacking cops and damaging property of the police station. Police said Suraj had been trying to get a bail in the case and there was apprehension that his release might lead to law and order problems. The police recommended that NSA be slapped against Rahul. The district magistrate, to whom the request had been made, gave permission. After Rahul's arrest, his relatives had barged into the police station late on December 3 night and freed him after the cops on duty did not allow them to offer the accused fish and liquor. Police said Rahul had come to Ghaziabad to meet a friend near Signature City.

Farmers want village names in metro stations

NOIDA: A group of residents from Hoshiarpur village on Wednesday protested outside Sector 34 metro station of the Blue Line extension demanding that the Aqua Line metro stations be named after the villages where they are located. In 2017 too, many farmers had submitted letters to the managing director of Noida Metro Rail Corporation Santosh Yadav demanding that every metro station coming up on the Blue and Aqua lines be named after the nearest village. However, with most metro stations of the Aqua Line up for sale of co-branding rights, the demand seems unlikely to be approved.

However, when the harassment increased, she informed me about their unruly behaviour. I tried to reason with Sachin's father and asked him to stop his son from harassing my daughter." He further alleged that Sachin had once again harassed his daughter on Saturday evening while she was returning home. When she resisted, Sachin slapped her. After some time Sachin, his father and their accomplices attacked the girl's family with sticks, bricks and stones. In the attack, some of the neighbours, who came to their rescue, were also injured. One of them received 15 stitches on his head after a brick hit him. Flipkart founder, CEO booked for 'cheating' buyer GHAZIABAD: An FIR was registered on Saturday against Flipkart founder Sachin Bansal and CEO Kalyan Krishnamurthy following a complaint of cheating lodged by a Ghaziabad-based lawyer. The complainant, Naushad Chaudhary, alleged the company had sold him a laptop having features different from what was mentioned at the time of sale on the Flipkart app installed on his phone. He claimed that Flipkart's customer care had initially agreed to replace the product, but later stopped all communication with him.

Chaudhary said he even sent a legal notice to company, but there was no response. "It is then that I lodged the complaint," he said. The charges mentioned by police include cheating, criminal breach of trust and forgery. Flipkart said on Sunday it would look into the matter. According to the lawyer, he had bought the laptop (HP 15 APU Dual Core A6) for Rs 17,990 on October 12 last year under the "special offers" category for Diwali. He raised a complaint with the customer care, which, in turn, promised to resolve the issue and refund the money.

Meerut allows Ghaziabad to dump 200 tonnes of waste daily

GHAZIABAD: The acute problem of solid waste management in Ghaziabad has got a temporary solution with the Meerut Municipal Corporation obliging to a request from GMC to allow dumping of civic waste in its jurisdiction. Though the Ghaziabad Municipal Corporation got permission to dump 200 metric tonnes of waste per day, officials said that only one-third of it is required to be sent to Meerut. The GMC had also placed a similar request with Noida, the permission for which is still awaited. The solid waste management in Ghaziabad plunged into a crisis as the GMC was forced to stop dumping at Pratap Vihar landfill on the orders of an NGT committee on waste management. "Even though we have the permission from the Meerut corporation to dump 200 metric tonnes of civic waste in their area, as of now only one-third of it is being sent there because much of it is managed here itself," said C P Singh, municipal commissioner, GMC. "We have requested Noida also to allow us dump waste in their area but so far we have not received any reply from them. In any case, I don't think we will need it," added Singh.

According to CP Singh, Ghaziabad generates nearly 1,000 metric tonnes of waste daily. While 300 metric tonnes are ferried to Pilkhuwa, nearly 200 metric tonnes are used in various GMC-owned parks in the city to prepare compost. "There are more than 1,240 parks under GMC and we have dug up compost pits in all these parks which consume nearly 200 metric tonnes of civic waste," said Singh. "Apart from this, we have two compost plants, especially for religious waste and fruit vegetable waste which consumes nearly 100 metric tonnes while a small portion is being dumped at Indirapuram landfill site and only the rest will be sent to Meerut," added Singh. The GMC has five zones in its jurisdiction. While the city zone generates 300 metric tonnes of waste, Kavinagar, Mohan Nagar and Vasundhara zones generate nearly 200 metric tonnes each and Pratap Vihar zone generates nearly 100 metric tonnes. The GMC is also eyeing 19 acres of private land which it intends to take on lease from farmers to create a temporary landfill. "There are many defunct brick kiln owners on the outskirts of Kavinagar and Rajnagar Extension areas.

Woman ends life in Shipra flat, note speaks of loneliness

GHAZIABAD: A 50-year-old woman hanged herself from a ceiling fan in her third-floor flat in Shipra Sun City in Indirapuram on Thursday when her daughter was away at her friend's place for some college-related work. The woman, Kanchan Rana, was a widow and was working as a teacher in a government school in Makanpur village. She was living in the flat with her 21-year-old college-going daughter Anukriti while her son, Rishav Rana (26), who works with a private firm, lives with his wife in Pune. Her husband, Dharendra Singh Rana died 15 years ago. In a suicide note recovered from the house, she mentioned "loneliness" as the reason for taking the extreme step. According to a relative, in the letter addressed to Chandani, Kanchan apologised to her daughter and wrote that she wanted to do a lot of things for her. She further wrote that she had not been able to cope with the loss of her husband anymore and therefore taking the extreme step. Kuldeep Singh, Shipra Sun City police post in-charge, said the body was sent for post-mortem and added that her son was on his way to Ghaziabad.

Rape survivor seeks protection from cops after series of threats

GHAZIABAD: A 26-year-old rape survivor has sought police protection against two men who sexually assaulted her and an accomplice of theirs. She claimed they came to her house three days ago and threatened her with consequences if she did not withdraw her complaint. The woman, in her complaint to the SSP, said Taslim and Shakil had raped her at knifepoint in her house on February 4, 2015. Her husband and relatives had gone out of the city that day. An FIR was registered against the duo at Masuri police station the next morning under sections 376 (rape) and 506 (criminal intimidation) of the IPC. The woman added that Taslim, who has several cases registered against him in Hapur and Ghaziabad, had also trespassed into her house and assaulted her a year back. An FIR was registered at Masuri police station after this complaint as well. "The two have been after my life and are intimidating my husband to back out from the cases. They have a long list of criminal cases against them and even our relatives and neighbours are afraid of supporting us. This Monday, the duo and their accomplice Gulfam once again threatened to kill me," the woman claimed.

Noida STF arrests henchman of Sunder Bhati gang, was involved in firing at DND over passage of trucks

NOIDA: The Noida unit of the STF has arrested a henchman of the Sunder Bhati-Anil Bhati gang who was on police radar for notoriously wielding the gang's influence on the Noida-Delhi border and resorting to extortion under the name of the dreaded gang leaders. Mohit Bhati, whose father's elder brother was well known to Sunder Bhati's father, was arrested from near the Sector 21/25 intersection around 8:30am on Thursday after the STF officers got a tip-off about the movement of three members of the gang near the area. A class 11 pass Mohit (20) was allegedly involved in threatening toll tax staffers at the DND toll to ensure that trucks pass through the toll without paying tax. According to STF officers, a trap was laid and a Volkswagen without any number plate was intercepted in which three accused including Mohit, his cousins Satpal and Sachin were travelling. While the STF team managed to catch hold of Mohit, the others managed to flee the spot. Deputy SP, STF Noida, Rajkumar Mishra told TBC that the three accused have been involved in an incident of firing at the DND toll on May 29 last year. "The accused had resorted to firing upon the toll staff when they faced resistance from the latter upon their insistence that some of the trucks be allowed to pass without payment of toll tax. Mohit and some other accused were also involved in firing upon a Greater Noida resident Jitendra over a contract for scrap maintenance on September 9 last year. While Jitendra survived the attack, their motive was to ensure that he withdraws from the contract," he said. An FIR was lodged against Mohit under the Arms Act and sections 307 (attempt to murder) in Sector 20 police station. STF officers say that the accused and the gang members have been actively involved in spreading fear among toll tax collection staffers at the borders including at the DND and the Kalindi Kunj. On condition of anonymity, toll staffers too admit that gangsters regularly try to wield their influence for allowing their trucks to move without any tax payment.
